TARIFF TO IMPACT CAPITAL INFLOWS, RUPEE & TRADE BALANCE

GDP Growth may take 30-80 bps Hit

Robust domestic demand can cushion blow, targeted policy interventions may be required from Centre & RBI: Experts

Anoushka Sawhney

New Delhi: India's economic growth could take a hit of 30-80 basis points this fiscal year with the US government applying a 50% tariff on Indian goods from Wednesday, said economists. They however emphasised that strong domestic demand and relatively low exposure of Indian exports to the US on GDP will help cushion the blow.

"If 50% tariff rate persists, economic growth could slip to or below 6% this fiscal year," said Sakshi Gupta, principal economist at HDPC Bank. She however noted potential offsets from GST rationalisation, income cuts, and strong rural demand to the tariff move.

CareEdge Ratings projected that if elevated tariffs persist, India's GDP growth could decline by 0.81% annually. HDPC Bank is estimating a risk of 40-50 bps to growth outlook of 6.3% for FY26, while Barclays is predicting 30 bps downside risk to its 6.5% forecast.

The 50% duty takes effect from 12:01 am eastern daylight time today i.e. 9:31 am Indian standard time.

India is among a few nations facing the highest tariffs alongside Brazil. The latest change implies a weighted effective tariff of 35.6% on India's exports to the US, up from 2.7% in April. In contrast, India charges a 9.1% tariff on US imports, according to Barclays.

Exports to the US account for around 2% of India's GDP. In FY25, India exported $88.5 billion worth of goods to the US compared to $45.7 billion imports.

"Should growth slip below 6% under a prolonged high tariff, we anticipate a further 50 bps reduction in policy rates, combined with targeted fiscal support for affected sectors," said Sinha.

IMPACTION ON RUPEE Economists believe that the pressure on capital flows, market sentiment, and rupee cannot be ruled out. "A 50% tariff could weigh on sentiments, foreign flows, export growth and eventually the current account deficit," said Gupta. "While the RBI is expected to intervene to stall sharp depreciation pressures, the rupee could eventually weaken to a range of 88-89 levels over the coming weeks," she said.

Textile Cos Hemmed in by Job Loss Fears

Our Bureau

Pune | Kolkata: As the 50% Trump tariffs become effective, the management of India's textile exporters are in a huddle to decide about the fate of the current and future orders from the US. Several are flying to the US this week to negotiate with buyers for the current orders.

Amid this chaos, the biggest worry for the industry is the expected job losses of about 5 lakh employees and the challenge of developing alternative markets. Ratings agency Crisil has estimated the revenue growth of ready-made garment manufacturers to halve after 50% tariffs become effective.

"Exporters are sitting down with their management teams to decide about what to do with the current orders, the future orders and the factories," said Vijay Agarwal, chairman, TEXPROCIL.

"Our biggest worry is about the expected job loss, which is likely to be about half a million including direct and indirect employment. We are worried about what work we will do at our factories," said Agarwal, who will be travelling to the US this week to meet with his buyers.

Gems, Jewellery Exporters Seek Counsel on Rerouting Shipments

Sutanuka Ghosal

Kolkata: Gems and jewellery exporters reached out to the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) on Tuesday, urging it to ensure working capital credit flow is not impacted after the imposition of 50% tariff by the US. The traders have also engaged US legal and business experts to seek advice on rerouting shipments through other nations that face lower tariffs.

Gem & Jewellery Export Promotion Council (GJEP) chairman Kirit Bhasani met RBI deputy governor and other senior officials and requested them to instruct banks so that they can be lenient on working capital requirements for the industry.

As US orders may not come immediately and there may be a delay in payments from the US buyers. GJEP officials had also met Niti Aayog executives last week and requested them to allow manufacturing of gems and jewellery at the Mumbai Santacruz Electronics Export Processing Zone (SEEPZ) for the domestic market. With export orders frozen as of now, most of these units may shut down unless the government intervenes, they said.

The US is the largest export destination for India's gems and jewellery industry, with exports worth nearly $10 billion in 2024-25. India cuts and polishes nine out of 10 natural diamonds available in the global markets, including the US.

Several exporters are also thinking of rerouting their consignments through other countries which face lower tariffs.

Seafood Industry to Pass on Impact to Buyers

Our Bureau

Pune: The Indian seafood industry, which is the largest exporter of shrimp and other seafood to the US, has decided that it will not be able to absorb the 50% increase in tariffs. Although the export shipments have stopped since last fortnight, US buyers are expected to return soon as currently both the exporters and importers are awaiting corrections in the market.

Meanwhile, US consumers will have to pay higher for their favourite seafood from India, as no country can immediately replace India's value-added products, said exporters. According to government data, India exported seafood worth $7.45 billion in 2024-25 fiscal of which the US accounted for $2.7 billion. Frozen shrimp accounts for nearly 70% share of India's total seafood exports.

"The shipments of old orders have been suspended; not cancelled, for the time being. There is a general consensus among seafood exporters that we will pass on the entire tariff to the US buyers," said a veteran seafood exporter, who declined to be identified.

"The leading US retailers that we work with have decided to stock their shelves by passing on the increase in tariffs to their consumers and let the consumers decide if they can absorb the increase in prices," said a leading exporter of value-added seafood to the US from south India.

Auto Parts Cos Eye Offshore Mfg Units

Tough Roads

Total Indian auto parts exports to US (2024): $6.6 bn. SHARE OF EXPORTS HIT BY NEW 50% TARIFFS: 47%.

Mull reviving mfg in US, setting up new units in Mexico; also on lookout for new export markets

Shally Seth Mohile & Sharmistha Mukherjee

Mumbai: Auto parts makers in India are weighing options to diversify into other markets besides setting up plants overseas to navigate the effects of 50% tariff. Nearly half of India's auto parts exports to the US will attract the new duty effective today doubling from the 25% tariff implemented from August 7.

This is expected to impact exports worth $3.08 billion to the US, the largest destination for Indian auto parts.

Components for cars and small trucks valued at $3.58 billion will continue under the existing 25% duty.

"The 25% tariff was already a disability but 50% makes it almost impossible to do business with US customers under current circumstances," said a senior executive at an auto parts maker asking not to be named. "We are left with no choice but to evaluate other markets or rethink our manufacturing foot-print."
