A supporter of criminal justice reform

During Democratic primaries, Harris called for abolishing death penalty and banning private prisons

SRIRAM LAKSHMAN

Presumptive Democratic Vice Presidential candidate Kamala Harris's connect with the African-American and Indian-American communities will be scrutinised as her campaign advances. In a country that is in the throes of a debate on race and policing, Ms. Harris's African-American heritage but also her former role as a prosecutor is expected to come to the fore.

During the Democratic primaries, Ms. Harris had outlined her plans for criminal justice reform that included legalising marijuana, abolishing the death penalty and banning private prisons. However, her record as California Attorney General had been criticised, especially by the progressive wing of the Democratic party, for continuing with establishment policies which, for instance, disproportionately incarcerated African Americans.

Sanders welcomes move

On Tuesday, however, other former presidential candidates, progressive Senators Bernie Sanders and Elizabeth Warren, welcomed the announcement that Ms. Harris would be on the ticket. "She understands what it takes to stand up for working people, fight for health care for all, and take down the most corrupt administration in history. Let's get to work and win," Mr. Sanders tweet-

More recently, following the death of George Floyd, the unarmed black man killed in Minneapolis by police, Ms. Harris co-sponsored legislation in the Senate for justice reform. In April, she introduced legislation to address the impact of COVID-19 on minority communities, whom the disease affects disproportionately. Last year, Ms. Harris was a lead cosponsor for legislation (which ultimately did not pass) whose impact would be to increase the number of green cards that could go to countries like India and China, which normally max out their annual resident visa qu-

Indian culture

On the topic of her ethnicity, Ms. Harris has said she has not spent a lot of time trying to categorise herself. "You might need to figure it out, but I'm fine with it," she had said in an interview to the Washington Post.

In her book The Truths We Hold, she talks about being raised with a "strong awareness and appreciation" for Indian culture. Her Indian mother, who was also a civil rights activist, knew that American society would view Kamala and her sister Maya Harris as black, so raised them to be "confident, proud black women". Around 1.3 million Indian Americans are likely to vote in November – a small but rich and increasingly politically active demographic. The Biden-Harris ticket is likely to mobilise funds from Indian Americans. "Indian Americans have already become a source of support and funding as evidenced by the 2020 primaries where several million dollars were raised by all the presidential candidates," said M.R. Rangaswami, founder of diaspora organisation Indiaspora. "Kamala Harris is an incredibly charismatic person who will resonate with our community," Mr. Rangaswami told The Hindu. Fundraisers are already being organised for her to raise "several millions [of dollars] more", he said.

Impact, an advocacy group and Political Action Committee (PAC) that describes itself as helping Indian Americans run and win political office, announced that it plans to raise $10 million for "candidates who share our values like Senator

Harris"

Mr. Biden's choice of Ms. Harris as running mate is likely to impact funding more than voting choice, according to Devesh Kapur, a professor of South Asia at the Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies, "Given how polarised the country is, most voters have already made up their minds. They will not change their vote. Her nomination will make a difference only to the relatively small number of undecided (Indian-American) voters," Mr. Kapur told The Hindu.

With many Indian-American voters are in deep-blue (highly Democrat) States and the Northeast, shifts in their votes will not have a major impact, as per Mr. Kapur. While the number of Indian Americans has been growing in Florida, Georgia, Texas, their relatively small numbers (many are non-citizens) will not have an impact unless the elections are close in those States.

Responding to the announcement, U.S. President Donald Trump said he was "a little surprised" that Mr. Biden picked Ms. Harris and characterised as "extraordinarily nasty" Ms. Harris's questioning of the then-Supreme Court nominee Brett Kavanaugh during his Senate confirmation. Ms. Harris had questioned the candidate Justice on multiple sexual assault accusations and any links he might have had with the Mueller probe into Russian meddling into the 2016 U.S. elections.

'Very happy'

Ms. Harris's maternal uncle G. Balanchandran, speaking to The Hindu from New Delhi, said he was not surprised by the news but was "very happy" to hear it. As a follower of U.S. politics, Mr Balachandran said he thought his niece "was one of the best" of all the VP candidates being considered. "Anybody who has listened to a Senate hearing would know, she can grill them like nobody's business." Mr. Balachandran, an academic and one time journalist with The Hindu, said. A second reason for his not being surprised was Ms. Harris's middle-of-the-road approach to issues. "She's not very dogmatic," Mr. Balachandran said.

sister Shyamala would have been extremely happy... and my parents [Ms. grandparents] would have been very happy," Mr. Balachandran said. Ms. Harris is married to Douglas Emhoff, an attorney, and has two step-children

'Harris's appointment could drive 2020 poll campaign'

U.S. policy focus might shift to multilateralism, says expert

ANANTH KRISHNAN

Wednesday's ment of Kamala Harris being named as the running mate of Democratic presidential nominee Joe Biden could become one of the key drivers of the 2020 campaign given the ongoing immigration debate in the U.S., according to Washington Post columnist David Ignatius.

"I think the theme of her life, her background, her connections to both the African-American community and the Indian-American community, are going to be one of the drivers of the campaign," Mr. Ignatius

"We are coming from a Trump administration that is very much looking inward, at 'America First', and in some instances an outspokenly anti-immigration administration. Now, we have in a ticket in the VP [Vice President] slot somebody who directly embodies the strengths of [our] diverse culture."

Rebuilding ties

Mr. Ignatius, who is a leading American writer on foreign affairs, said that a possible Biden-Harris administration would focus more on rebuilding U.S. relations with allies and partners, including India, and likely have a different view on the role of multilateralism with respect to trade. One of President Trump's first acts in office was to withdraw from the Trans-Pacific Partnership (TPP) trade deal.

"The inability to politically carry through the TPP was one of the biggest mistakes of American foreign policy in the last few decades," he said, speaking at a virtual forum held by the Synergia Foundation, a strategic affairs think-tank. "It was an agreement that created momentum that would have been undesirable for the Chinese. Perhaps there will be a way to find a new version of that."

He expected "new attention" on allies and partners including India. "We will turn to India for conversations on the shape of Asia, we will turn to Japan too. If the U.S. is sensible and doesn't go about alienating allies that it is lucky to have, it begins with an enormous advantage [vis-a-vis China]."

He said "the degree of Chinese assertiveness will be a driver" in shaping India-U.S. relations, and the "fact that the U.S. and India talk with such clarity and shared interest with China" was itself a recent development.

Economic aspect

Former National Security Adviser Shivshankar Menon agreed with Mr. Ignatius that 'it is not the time for an Asian NATO" and today's situation was not similar to a bipolar Cold War era.

"Today's problem is anarchy and opportunism, rather than a fixed bipolar world where we are operating," he said. "Our primary congruence with the U.S. is really maritime."

While the "time is ripe for a much more active U.S. involvement" in Asia, Mr. Menon said the economic aspect should be one focus, with the region "looking like China's economic sphere" with the U.S. withdrawal from the TPP and India also walking away from the Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership (RCEP) deal.

"It would make sense if the U.S. re-engages economically, with the TPP or a version of it that brings the Indo-Pacific together," he said.

Traditional values

On the likely foreign policy priorities of a possible Biden administration, Mr. Menon expected "a return to some traditional values like democracy, human rights and fundamentally to more multilateralism" and working with institutions.

Both agreed there would, however, be some continuity in dealing with China, with a "consensus" emerging in the U.S. on a harder line in dealing with China's

Mr. Menon noted that approval ratings of the U.S. were higher than he could ever remember in India. "What China's behaviour has done is revitalise the Quad [the U.S.-India-Japan-Australia grouping], and has got those of us on China's periphery working together in ways that would not have been possible years ago," he said. "If the U.S. comes back looking for allies, she will find willing partners."

Belarus police crack down on protesters

REUTERS

Belarus said on Wednesday that police had fired live rounds at protesters in the city of Brest and arrested more than 1,000 people nationwide, intensifying a crackdown that has prompted the European Union to weigh new sanctions on

Security forces have clashed with protesters for three consecutive nights after strongman President

Alexander Lukashenko claimed a landslide re-election victory in a vote on Sunday that his opponents say was rigged.

Hundreds of protesters took to the streets again on Wednesday. Women dressed in white formed a human chain outside a covered food market in the capital Minsk, while a crowd also gathered outside a prison where protesters were being kept.

The Belarusian Interior Ministry said 51 protesters and 14 police officers had been injured in clashes on Tuesday night.

In Brest, a city in southwestern Belarus on the Polish border, police fired live rounds after some protesters it said were armed with metal bars ignored warning shots fired in the air, the Ministry said. One person was injured. Mr. Lukashenko has accused the protesters of being in cahoots with foreign backers from Russia and elsewhere.

China warns U.S. against 'playing with fire'

'We firmly oppose official exchanges between U.S. and Taiwan under any pretext'

AGENCE FRANCE-PRESSE

China warned Washington not to "play with fire" on Wednesday as a U.S. delegation wrapped up a historic trip to the self-ruled island of Taiwan.

Beijing has been infuriated by the highest-profile visit in decades to Taiwan, which it sees as part of its territory, U.S.-China relations plunge to a record low over a range of issues from trade to military and the COVID-19 pandemic.

Health chief Alex Azar finished a three-day visit to Taiwan, during which he criticised China's handling of the pandemic and visited the shrine of a former Taiwan President hated by the Communist Party leadership. Beijing slammed the visit

Wednesday and said it "firmly opposes official exchanges between the U.S. and Taiwan under any pretext".

na's core interests, some people in the U.S. must not harbour illusions, those who play with fire will get burned," said Foreign Ministry spokesman Zhao Lijian at a regular press briefing. "I would also like to remind the Taiwan authorities not to be... subservient to others, to rely on the support of foreigners, and to be bent on "On issues involving Chi-pursuing independence, which is a dead end," Mr. Zhao said. On the last day of the trip, Mr. Azar visited a shrine to Taiwan's late President Lee Teng-hui on Wednesday, praising his role in steering the island's transition to democracy.

Sri Lanka Cabinet sworn in

President Gotabava takes defence portfolio

MEERA SRINIVASAN

Sri Lankan President Gotabaya Rajapaksa on Wednesday appointed a 26-member Cabinet and a team of junior Ministers, following the ruling party's resounding victory in the election.

The Cabinet was sworn in at a festive ceremony held at the famed 'Temple of the Sacred Tooth Relic' in the central Kandy district. The symbolism, which speaks to the brothers' core Sinhala-Buddhist support base, was in line with that of President Gotabaya Rajapaksa's own swearing in ceremony, following his big win in November, near the Ruwanwelisaya, a Buddhist shrine in the historic city of Anuradhapura. On Sunday, Prime Minister Mahinda Rajapaksa took the oath of office at the Kelaniya Raja Maha Vihara, a famous Buddhist temple near Colombo.

sion, President Gotabaya Rajapaksa is Minister of Defence, while Prime Minister Mahinda Rajapaksa holds three Ministries - Finance, Cultural Affairs and Urban Development. Their elder brother Chamal Rajapaksa is Cabinet Minister for Irrigation, in addition to being appointed State Mifor Internal Security, Home Affairs and Disaster Management. The Prime Minister's son and legislator from the southern Hambantota district Namal Rajapaksa has been named Cabinet Minister for Youth and Sports Affairs. His cousin Shasheendra Rajapaksa, son of Mr. Chamal Rajapaksa, is a junior Minister for High Tech Agriculture, the media release said. Significantly, former President Maithripala Sirisena, who was elected to Parliament from Polonnaruwa district, was not on the list.

Meanwhile, some Sri Lankans on social media questioned the legality of President Rajapaksa holding a ministerial portfolio, citing the 19th Amendment, a 2015 legislation that sought to clip the President's executive powers. When contacted, a senior official in government said it was because the 19th Amendment was "convoluted", that the current administration wants to repeal it. "The basis for the President assuming charge of the Defence Ministry is Article 4 of our Constitution," the official told The Hindu, citing the Article which says: "the executive power of the People, including the defence of Sri Lanka, shall be exercised by the President".

'Data on Russia vaccine not transparent'

AGENCE FRANCE-PRESSE

Washington's health chief on Wednesday expressed scepticism about Russia's claim of developing the world's first safe COVID-19 vaccine, pointing to the lack of data from its trials.

Moscow said on Tuesday that its vaccine offered "sustainable immunity" against the virus, but scientists have previously raised concerns about the development speed of Russian treatments, suggesting that researchers were cutting corners.

U.S. Health Secretary Alex Azar echoed those concerns on Wednesday as he wrapped up a three-day visit to Taiwan. "It's important that we provide safe, effective vaccines and that the data be transparent... This is not a race to be first," he told reporters.

"I should note that two of the six U.S. vaccines that we've invested in entered the phase three clinical trials weeks ago that the Russian vaccine is now only beginning," he added.

"The data from the initial trials in Russia have not been disclosed, it's not transparent."

Russian President Vladimir Putin said the vaccine was safe, and that one of his daughters had received a dose.

Locusts push farmers to 'cover' crops

Rajasthan sees big enrolment under PMFBY scheme this kharif

RUTAM VORA

VISHWANATH KULKARNI Ahmedabad/Bengaluru, August 12

The scare of desert locust attacks coupled with erratic rainfall in the early part of monsoon has pushed more farmers in Rajasthan to take insurance for their crops under the Pradhan Mantri Fasal Bima Yojana (PMFBY) this kharif season

Sum insured

Officials of the Rajasthan Agriculture Department said about 45 per cent more farmers have enrolled for the scheme this year and the coverage of cropped area has increased by 38 per cent to about 72 lakh hectares over the last kharif season. The sum insured has increased by 25 per cent to around ₹20.000 crore.

In fact, Rajasthan accounts for about 40 per cent of the total covered area of 178 lakh hectares under the PMFBY across the country, so far. This is in stark contrast to the neighbouring Gujarat, which exited the flagship scheme premiums citing heavy insurance bv charged companies.

A total of 66.08 lakh farmers have enrolled for the PMFBY during kharif 2020. This includes 64.63 lakh loanee farmers and 1.46 lakh non-loanee farmers, officials said. In kharif 2019, 45.60 lakh farmers had enrolled, including 60,000 who had not taken any loans from banks and financial institutions.

Kunji Lal Meena, Principal Secretary (Agriculture and Horticulture), Government of Rajasthan, said that PMFBY had received good response. On the claims settled, he said that between January 2019 and till date ₹7,085 crore worth of claims were settled to about 48.53 lakh farmers.

Also, during Covid-19, total ₹3,478-crore claims were settled for 21 lakh farmers. "Rajasthan is with PMFBY be-

Crop losses

The higher enrolment is possibly because of the locust attacks that have happened in the State since April this year. "This is something we in the insurance industry call 'antiselection'. Farmers know that the chances of getting a claim is substantially high this year and hence want to avail themselves of it," said an insurance sector source. However, crop losses due to pest attacks are not covered under the PMFBY, unless it is declared a national disaster. "The locust has become a major nuisance for farmers in many States and the government should declare it a national disaster," said Bhagirath Chaudhary, Recently, Rajasthan Chief Minister had urged the Centre to declare the locust attack a national disaster. Kharif crops such as moong, cotton and bajra have been hit by the locust infestation in about 7 lakh hectares and farmers had suffered losses to the tune of ₹1,000 crore.

RBI plans to implement system-based asset classification in urban co-operative banks

OUR BUREAU

The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) has decided to implement system-based asset classification in urban co-operative banks

(UCBs), prescribing a timeline based on their asset size. The central bank said this move is aimed at improving the efficiency, transparency and integrity of the asset classification

System-based asset classification means asset classification (downgrading as well as upgrading) carried out by the core banking solution | computerised systems of the bank in an automated manner on an ongoing basis, based on the relevinstructions/guidelines. The RBI said UCBs having > total assets of ₹2,000 crore or above as on March 31, 2020, have to implement system-based asset classification with effect from June 30, 2021.

UCBs having total assets of ₹1,000 crore or above but less than ₹2,000 crore as on March 31, 2020, and having self-assessed themselves as being under Level III or Level IV in terms of the Comprehensive Cyber Security Framework for UCBs, have to implement systembased asset classification with effect from September 30, 2021.

> UCBs, which meet the aforementioned criteria as at the end of the current or subsequent financial years, have to implement system-based asset classification within a period of six months from the end of the financial year concerned. For the smooth implementation of the system, the RBI said all concerned UCBs may conduct pilot/parallel run and evaluate the results for accuracy/inof the asset classification, in compliance with its applicable instructions. G BALACHANDAR Chennai, August 12

Several industry associations have urged the RBI to consider widening the window of MSME (micro, small and medium enterprise) restructuring package to cover more slowdown-hit units.

More needs to be done

While they have welcomed the RBI's 'Restructuring of Advances for Viable MSMEs', terming it as a timely decision, the associations are of the view that the package in the current form may not support adequate units that may be in need of help.

"We estimate 30 per cent to 40 per cent of companies in our sector (based on the coverage of a survey of 1,800 companies whose liquidity position is precarious) will benefit immensely through the implementation of restructuring scheme, and this will help the sector in the revival process," said Prabhu Dhamodharan, convenor, Coimbatorebased Indian Texpreneurs Federation.

However, ITF requests the RBI to include this scheme for MSMEs as per the revised definition notified by RBI vide circular dated July 2, which would enable a comprehensive coverage of companies, and this change is muchneeded for the spinning sector to get eligibility for the

"Keeping the ₹25-crore limit (aggregate exposure) and also keeping out of stressed accounts like SMAs (Special Mention Accounts) in the package leads to more companies out of the scheme. "Scores of MSMEs slipped into NPAs mainly due to delayed payments on account of a challenging business environment. Most of them have the capabilities to survive and grow if help is extended," he added. As per the latest RBI package, companies, including MSMEs that have loan exposure more than ₹25 crore and have defaulted on payments for more than 30 days, will not qualify for the package.

"So, tweaking of the restructuring package to benefit all MSMEs under the new definition and inclusion of SMA accounts into the package will help the industry immensely," said Dhamodharan.

The Consortium of Indian Associations (CIA) pointed out that the packaged announced by the RBI would not serve the real purpose of either supporting viable MSMEs or containing NPA increase in banks. "The ₹25-crore ceiling is too small and many MSMEs are unlikely to be covered under this scheme on account of the limit prescribed by the RBI. Due to the slowdown in the past one year and subsequent Covid-19 crisis, most of the MSMEs are unable to repay the loans and are in need of restructuring.

"They cannot be classified as unviable. This cut-off date shall be December 31, 2019. Otherwise, restructuring will not reduce NPAs. It will make healthy enterprises weak, rather than weak units becoming healthy," said KE Raghunathan, convenor, CIA.

Deutsche Bank, on Wednesday, announced a fresh capital increase of ₹2,700 crore into its India branch operations to fund its growth plans in the country.

"With this, the total capital deployed by Deutsche Bank in its Îndia branches has now increased to ₹18,200 crore," it said in a statement.

This will also further strengthen the capital adequacy have been consistently growing however, said the recent months ratio of the India branches, which stood at 14.93 per cent as on March 31, 2020. "This capital will be used to support the further expansion of Deutsche Bank India across all of its businesses - corporate banking, investment banking, and international private banking - which over the years," it said. The announcement comes at a time when a large number of banks have raised capital amid the economic uncertainty and concerns about loan defaults in the Covid-19-led crisis.

Kaushik Shaparia, Chief Country Officer, Deutsche Bank India, have thrown up opportunities for the lender to work with clients in steering through the current operating environment.

"The incremental capital being injected into our India franchise is a strong validation of our confidence in our business model and potential in this country, and is demonstrative of our intent to further deepen our presence here," he said.

Co-operative (PMC) Bank's management has decided to reduce the salary cost by 30 per cent. This move comes 10 months after the bank was put under all inclusive directions by the Reserve Bank of India.

As of March-end 2019, the multi-state co-operative bank, with 137 branches spread across Maharashtra, Delhi, Karnataka, Goa, Gujarat and Madhya Pradesh, had 1,814 employees on its Scam-hit Punjab & Maharashtra and allowance aggregated ing for either the revival of the are very minimal. Hence, the exbank or its merger with another bank and return of their hardearned money, distressed depositors have been pressing for cost-cutting measures at the bank. According to an inter-of-₹113.62 crore. Besides clamour- our bank, the banking activities penses also need to be reduced appropriately.

"Considering the severe financial crisis and huge losses accumulated/ being incurred by the bank, it is imperative to reduce the expenses relating to
